

TrimSpa x32 Review

TrimSpa x32 is the latest incarnation in the TrimSpa range produced by NutriAmerica. The original TrimSpa included the now banned substance Ephedra as a main ingredient and became incredibly popular largely thanks to a massive media campaign headed by one of the most recognized female celebrities of the time. Enrolling the services of a celebrity can either make or break a product, depending on how the story is told. The consumer is not always as gullible as the advertisers wish to believe. It was Anna Nicole Smith who led the TrimSpa campaign and coined the phrase "TrimSpa Baby" after allegedly losing over 30lbs in just under 2 months. Initially it was TrimSpa that was given credit for Anna Nicole's amazing diet success and brought the producers, NutriAmerica overnight success. It transpired later that TrimSpa alone was probably not responsible for Anna Nicole's weight loss as in her battle several other slimming aids were used in conjunction.. It was impossible to state with any great confidence that TrimSpa was responsible in whole or in part for Anna Nicole Smith's weight loss achievement. Following Anna Nicole Smith's untimely death there has been speculation about the future of the TrimSpa brand and the manufacturers. The New TrimSpa x32 The original TrimSpa is demoted to history and now the Ephedra free version x32 is in circulation with Hoodia Gordonii as the active ingredient along with stimulants such as theobromine, green tea and caffeine. How Does TrimSpa x32 Work TrimSpa works by suppressing appetite and increase energy levels through stimulating agents. TrimSpa also contains glucosamine, which is said to help regulate and keep blood sugar in the bloodstream longer after eating, reducing appetite further and causing a longer-lasting sense of satiety TrimSpa x32 Side Effects There are several possible side effects ranging from Vomiting Chest Pain Restlessness Anxiety Insomnia Palpitations These side effects are largely due to the stimulants included within the formula. Does TrimSpa x32 Work - TrimSpa Summary The most interesting ingredient present in the TrimSpa x32 formula is Hoodia Gordonii. The message that TrimSpa promotes is "suppress your appetite." Hoodia Gordonii is the most powerful natural appetite suppressant known to man - so why would other ingredients be necessary. Unless of course the Hoodia Gordonii present is not purest South African sourced - this, of course is speculation. TrimSpa has a rather negative cloud over its history - in early 2007 The FTC (Federal Trade Commission) forced the makers of TrimSpa to pay a settlement of $1.5m in connection to many complaints made by consumer and focus groups about the marketing tactics employed. Unsupported claims about the effectiveness of TrimSpa have been made and unless scientific evidence can be brought about TrimSpa will remain a brand that does not instill trust.
